Bonnie Parker

Heartbreak and sorrow
 Bonnie Parker knew no tomorrow Her heart's devotion to Roy who used her like a toy

Found comfort and misery in a world that had no pity for a curled blonde haired girl Bonnie began to damn men to hell and picked up her rifle and shell

She took the world by storm like lightning and thunder She swore to love no other She found a companion in a man who could not love her

Chasing dreams of happiness and strength in order to find them having to go to great lengths

Outrunning the law, 1,000 miles at a time Catching heat for every crime

Bonnie continued to write poems every step of the way Making sure that there was hell to pay

Having 13 murders under her belt knowing nothing but sin
 Her life ended with a blood shed grin
